

Hungry Heart Author Nicholson to Speak on Wednesday, March 15th

Zoe Ann Nicholson, author of The Hungry Heart: A Woman's Fast for Justice, will present her book at Fullerton College on Wednesday, March 15th at Noon in the Faculty Lounge. The event is sponsored by the Friends of the Fullerton College Library.

The Hungry Heart is based on Nicholson's personal journal which she kept during the summer of 1982 while fasting for 37 days in support of the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. She had joined six other women in the Illinois state capitol where legislators were debating the passage of the amendment.

Nicholson holds a B.A. in Catholic Theology from Quincy University and a Master's in Religion from USC. She has taught high school, built and operated a bookstore, and worked in high tech. She is the author of four other books and the founder of the Luna Soleil Press. Her dedication to the advancement of women began with the 37-day fast in 1982 and continues to the current day.

The public is invited to the presentation. Light refreshments will be served.

New Library/Learning Resource Center Dedicated October 28th

The Fullerton College Library/Learning Resource Center Dedication took place on Friday, October 28, 2005 at 10:00 a.m. Pre-ceremony entertainment was provided by the Fullerton College Jazz Cadre. John Ayala, Dean of the Library and Learning Resources, acted as the Master of Ceremonies.

Dr. Kathleen Hodge, President of Fullerton College, greeted and introduced dignitaries from the 300 plus audience that congregated in front of the new Library entrance and green space at the north end of the quad. (Continued on next page)

Leon Leyson on Campus April 26th

Leon Leyson, Holocaust survivor and a member of "Schindler's List," will again speak on campus on Wednesday, April 26th from 12:00 Noon to 1:30 p.m. in the Campus Theatre.

At past on-campus events Leyson has spoken to standing-room-only crowds. He was the youngest member group of over 1000 Jews who avoided the Nazi death camps by working in Oskar Schindler's enamelware factory. Schindler's story was portrayed in the Steven Spielberg film "Schindler's List" which won seven Oscars.

The "Library Store" Opens on Campus

Beginning Tuesday, March 7th the "Library Store" will open. Located at the library entrance to the new Library/ Learning Resources Center, the Store will be selling used books, magazines, and videos and staffed by members of the Friends. Hours will be Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from 9:30-11:30 a.m.

Volunteers are needed! Hours can be modified to fit volunteer availability. If you would like to volunteer a few hours per month, please contact Mike Fitzsimmons at 714-992-7061, extension 26691, or mfitzsimmons@fullcoll.edu.

Dr. Jerome Hunter, Chancellor of the North Orange County Community College District, spoke about the meaning of this new Library/Learning Resources Center to the Fullerton College campus. Molly McClanahan, member of the Board of Trustees, North Orange College Community College District, spoke about the history of Fullerton and the importance of the continuing development of Fullerton College for the future of the Fullerton community and students.

Lorenzo Cipriani, Fullerton College student, read a poem by English professor Susan Sink, written in honor of the new Library/ Learning Resources Center. The poem reprised the construction of the new LLRC and spoke of the elegance and majesty it has brought to the campus.

Subsequently, the dedication plaque and ribbon-cutting ceremony followed. The Fullerton College Concert Choir sang various selections while standing on the grand staircase, and several Fullerton College music instructors played musical selections throughout the building. Guided tours and self-guided tours by members of the Library/Learning Resource Center Staff followed.

The dedication of the LLRC was a great success with pre-ceremony entertainment and refreshments adding to the festivities.

Friends Gifts to the Library

Each year the Friends donate funds to the Library to purchase materials, equipment and other outlay needs to serve students, faculty and the community. This fall the Friends were able to fund items that were needed after the move to the new building. These included a beautiful "New Book" display shelf for the entry, two new paperback holders, and the refinishing of several pieces of furniture. They also funded the repainting of two book trucks used in the Library entry from which the Friends sell materials on an on-going basis.

New Members

We welcome these new members to the Friends of the Fullerton College Library:
